SUPERHUMAN

The AI platform that works for your whole workforce

Superhuman is the only AI platform designed to come to your team, not the other way around. When AI shows up in the tools your team already uses, knows what they're working on, and surfaces help before they ask, you don't need to be a power user to work like one.

Meet Superhuman's AI-native platform

Close the power user gap

Superhuman Go's inline AI works in the apps employees already use, surfacing help before they ask. It turns every employee's context into tailored assistance, so AI value doesn't stay concentrated among your top performers.

Give every team a single source of truth

Superhuman Docs is the best place for teams and AI to work together. One surface where your words and data live, connected to the tools your team already uses, so every department always works from the same page.

Communicate with confidence

Grammarly makes every employee a clear, confident communicator—and as an agent within Go, it works proactively across your entire stack. Over 50K+ teams use it every day to keep outputs polished and on-brand.

Stay ahead of a full inbox

Superhuman Mail prioritizes the emails that matter and drafts the replies employees would send anyway. Employees save 4+ hours a week without changing how they work.

Let the busywork run itself

Connectors link the tools your teams already use, and agents take on the repetitive work on top of them—all under one governed layer. Deploy pre-built agents or build custom agents with a no-code builder or SDK, then share them across the org, turning one team's best practice into an enterprise-wide standard.

Built for enterprise scale and control

View details

Superhuman's trusted enterprise platform gives your IT team one place to deploy, govern, and scale AI across every app your teams already rely on. Built with security and privacy at the core:

- No data storage without permission
- Your data informs your AI, not anyone else's
- End-to-end encryption
- Permission-aware data integrations
- Enterprise security certifications and compliance
- Flexible admin controls
