Broadcom's security portfolio directly support a unified enterprise security vision by providing integrated solutions that work cohesively across agency boundaries. The combination of Symantec Data Loss Prevention (DLP), Carbon Black Endpoint Detection and Response (EDR) and Carbon Black App Control creates a comprehensive security framework that addresses multiple threat vectors from a single console.

This unified approach eliminates the complexity of managing disparate security tools while providing the visibility and control necessary for cross-agency collaboration. By streamlining policy management, reporting and incident response through integrated platforms, agencies can reduce administrative overhead and focus resources on mission-critical activities.
